What is Colon Hydrotherapy?

<http://www.dotolo.eu/advice>

It is a Detox Solution for Inner Cleansing

In the last 10 years there has been a resurgence of interest in Integrated Healthcare and personal health care responsibility. Once again people are discovering the many health benefits of maintaining a strong and biologically sound colon. In 2009 14.8 million packs of laxatives sold in the UK, worth £49.3 million in sales.

Colon Hydrotherapy is a gentle drug-free and effective treatment for constipation and for the reduction of the colon's toxic burden.

Why Have It?

Constipation can result in encrusted waste substances in the colon.

Toxins are reabsorbed into the bloodstream, lowering the body's defence against bacteria and viruses. 80% of the immune system is dependent on intestinal health.

Stress, coffee, acid-forming foods (processed and high sugar) and alcohol can lead to the proliferation of unfriendly bacteria which can trigger problems.

Colon hydrotherapy is a gentle process of bathing the colon (large intestine) by infusing filtered water to cleanse the colon that has been practiced for thousands of years in various forms. A clean colon is an integral part of Total Body Health.

What happens after the Colon Hydrotherapy treatment?

Advice on Lifestyle changes is offered on diet and nutrition, water intake, exercise, stress management and avoiding contaminants.

We would advise everyone to use high quality water using a system like the Energy + Filter system that has been designed to remove a wide range of contaminants including chlorine, fluoride, lead and other heavy metals, hardness, nitrate, bacteria, viruses, cysts and dissolved organic contaminants such as benzene, pesticide residues and THM's to give you highly purified, alkalised and ionised water.

Dotolo Europe is aiming to offer alternative solutions to preparation for colonoscopies and to promote the use of Colon Hydrotherapy as a preventative therapy and detoxing the body.

The FDA has determined that Class II Dotolo Toxygen devices can be used to prepare patients for endoscopic procedures

Dotolo Europe offers a complete package covering:

- Sales of Class II Dotolo Toxygen devices and disposables
- Continued after sales service and technical Support.
- Training for a career in Colon Hydrotherapy and ongoing CPD
- Business support to new therapists and existing practices
- Raising awareness of clinical and educational establishments and taking a lead on encouraging clinical trials on the use of colon hydrotherapy within the medical sector.

Ethos: Honesty, integrity and client-focused

What is unique about the Dotolo package?

It is a package that is client-led. Our package was designed to overcome the challenges experienced by therapists who would purchase equipment and struggle to get the technical and commercial support after buying their equipment.

We offer support on financing the equipment and maintenance packages for the equipment and business development.

We know how to develop and promote a business and we want our therapists to succeed

About 85% of colonic hydrotherapists are female who would have to rely on a plumber or an engineer to maintain the equipment. Our website provides the maximum technical information on parts, maintenance and costs. Clients have the option to request technical support from Dotolo or receive instructions on doing it themselves. There are no hidden costs.

Why Colon Hydrotherapy?

What is unique about Dotolo's training offer?

Promoting Colon Hydrotherapy Training as a career

<http://www.dotolo.eu/colon-hydrotherapy-as-a-career>

In these uncertain economic times, we are looking to support those seeking a career change to train to the highest level. We also feel that therapists from other disciplines can increase their incomes by adding Colon Hydrotherapy to their portfolio.

Colon hydrotherapy is an ideal service for someone to offer in conjunction with existing aesthetic clinic-based services, such as those offered by surgical and non-surgical health treatment salons, health clubs, spas and hotels, or within therapeutic environments, such as homeopathy and naturopathy practices.

Changing your career can feel scary. The training is delivered by leading professionals with experience as therapists with their own practices and clinic owners.

Training courses are flexible and show clear professional standards. The theory is assimilated by involving the learner in the delivery of the treatment.

Being modular they also enable continuous professional development at individuals' own pace, and help them decide how to develop their own business model.

Courses are broken down into bite-sized chunks, so they can learn whenever and wherever it suits them. Being a therapist can be lonely. There is a network of professionals available to help and support new therapists.
